Crown Colonial Gathering. Mr Chamberlain, speaking at a dinner at the Corona Club, at the Hotel Cecil, at for which we fought. An era of un precedented prosperity was opening for South Africa. He dwelt upon the changes which quick communication had brought about in Colonial Administration, and urged officials abroad to make allowance for those at home who were in closer touch with public opinion, whose interference, seemingly irritating, was probably due to a desire to shield the Colonial officials from criticism. He coupled the toast of the Club with the name of Sir West Ridgeway, who was present. Sir West Ridgeway responded, and said that the Colonial Office was justly proud of the Crown Colonies. which, perhaps, rose in estimation now that the Transvaal and Orange River 211 Colonies had been added thereto.

Jubilce can form any idea as to the beauti. bere in peace, and being under the British rule all the officials are upright. Why, then, is it that so many people do business here as visitors only and take their families to and from their homes in Macao? There are many reasons for this. Perhaps one reason is that very few Chinese know that much sunlight is needed to put away plague, and that the air must be pure and their bodies clean. Why does the Government not prepare small textbooks on cleanliness to be taught in the schools, and also distribute paperss stating the methods of the Sanitary Board by the hand of the inspectors when they make their examination of houses, so that the people might understand what is being done and their fears might be removed ? Why not urge the Chinese in Hongkong to establish a Guild Hall not only a merchant's club, and lot such district or each surname or trade appoint two members by election as its representatives?
